

I am concerned by the new proposal to expand the LPFM stations as this could mean that I would lose the ability to listen to my favorite K-LOVE station in my area. K-LOVE is the one radio station I can listen to with my grandchildren and not be concerned about the content of the programming. The service that K-LOVE provides is definitely in the public interest as it brings a positive, encouraging message rather than the goofiness that plagues most radio stations today. I don't have to worry about my children hearing sexual innuendo or commercials for "male enhancement medications" and then having to explain what they've just heard.
